A meeting was held at Westinghouse in Baltimore, Md., 6 and 7 May 1954 to clarify mutual problems involved in making Bomarc Ground Control Network compatible with the Lincoln Transition System and to prepare proposals, if possible, for presentation at a larger meeting to be held at Baltimore 13 and 14 May. The problems involved were clearly defined, and some alternative solutions were discussed. The problems discussed were: alerting and acknowledgement communications, transmission of detailed F-99 status to FSQ-7, transmission of selection and prelaunch data to F-99's from FSQ-7, and transmission of mid-course guidance to F-99's.
