General Information "The Guild is non-sectarian. At the meetings Catholics sing abreast of Jews and Jews outshout the Protestants. The hymns, of course, are most Methodist and Scotch Presbyterian. But the melding is perfect, if not divine. In those initials the faiths could be represented. I could also take care of the guarantor."

Mr. Shafer wrote "What about - Nil Sine Labore - if anything at all."

Mr. Shafer suggested that the little trade mark should be used, and C.J.C. replied: "I am not sure about the little trade mark, but I think very likely the initials may be used in some way perfectly in keeping with their place in your small picture."
