General Information: It is proposed to have the quotation "Lest We Forget" over the entrance doors, made of stained glass. They could be held in a fixture box which would be flush with the wall and painted to appear as a part of it. A very low intensity light behind the letters might give a subdued glow which would make them readable, and yet in no way compete with the window above - possibly of a very deep blue. (Dr. Eaton doubts very much if it can be done artistically and in good taste. He believes you should make it of such character as to show it is a part of the entire stained glass scheme; in other words, the same colors should be used if possible.

Sent glass with suggested lettering.
