"A. Elizabeth Chamberlin 1859-1920"

As the wrong dates were given to us, we were later asked to make another plate as follows.
"We are enclosing a very rough sketch to suggest the size of letter. These would be white or gold letters on a dark field, painted and permanently fired into the glass; that is, it would become vitreous, a part of the glass. We find that light lettering on a dark field is most legible. Of course it can be black lettering if you prefer. Would these be in clear glass?" (The inscription design sent: "In Honor of Charles A. Dickerman."
