General Information These windows should be lighter than the chancel, for they are quite small for the size of the church. They get good strong light, but they still should have good strong color in figures and symbols. These are to harmonize with the chancel window, although in considerably different manner.

See photographs of the windows in place.

Subject: Jesus Transfiguration and His Triumphant Entry into Jerusalem.

In the first panel, Our Lord appears in garments of glistening white, with Moses and Elias above, and the three apostles, Peter, James and John below, with the three tabernacles that Peter, James and John suggested building to commemorate the significant event.

Our Lord rides the colt while the multitudes bearing palms welcome Him. Above, the disciples find the colt; while below is the six-pointed star of David, symbol of Our Lord.

See floor plan on #4691.
