General Information

Annunciation - - - Prophecy of Isaiah

Now that your nave windows are complete, I suspect you will feel the need of significant enrichment of the two in the narthex. They can be beautifully treated in themes preceding the others and forming an introduction to them.

The Annunciation is a lovely subject, as suggested in the color sketch we are sending. The Archangel Gabriel is shown with the kneeling Virgin Mary, with the Dove of the Holy Spirit above and the vase of lilies beside her. Her crowned monogram is below, between the lily pattern. We thought this would go well for the complete window; with the prophecy of Isaiah opposite, with his vision of the Christ Child, - "Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel".

This would occupy the space below the stairs, but the window would continue up in simple leaded glass.

In this way its cost could be reduced to thirteen hundred dollars, ($1300), while the other would remain the same as the earlier ones, ($1800).
