The time is com - ing when no one Can tell the day from This light will show all lov - ing wives If hus - bands come home This light will show the hon - est man Be - neath the rag - ged night, And that will be when we shall see The new E - lec - tric light; Then straight, And show up spoon - ey pairs at night, While kiss - ing at the gate, 'Twill coat, And how our pol - i - ti - cians try To get an ex - tra vote, 'Twill gas will have to van - ish, As all gas - sy sub - jects should, And this show the rich man just the way To help the starv - ing poor, And guide the preachers in the prop - er way of vice to speak, And Yan - kee tri - umph, it will shine Up - on the bad and good; The how to keep the prowl - ing wolf From hon - est la - bor's door; 'Twill show them clear - ly some are frauds, Who hear them ev - ry week; 'Twill bold po - lice - man on his beat, No more will go to sleep, And show the road to good old times, Since spe - cie pay - ments here, And show who write the per - so - nals, And tell us what they mean, Why prowling cats will have to drop Their mid - night walks, and weep; And how long Mur - phy's con - verts will Ab - stain from gin and beer; 'Twill girls, who are to - day bru - nettes, To - mor - row, blondes are seen; Why all our ball-room beauties now, Who look so nice at night, Will show us how our sweet-hearts keep Their curls so long and bright, What some-one left a ba-by on A door step one fine night, Will not seem half so charming By the new E - lec - tric light. There's makes their blush - es, we can see By the new E - lec - tric light. soon be quite ap - pa - rent By the new E - lec - tric light.

CHORUS.

some of us will wel - come, And there's some will hate the sight, Of this la - test, great - est won - der, That's the new E - lec - tric light.
