H. Leston Carter, Class Secretary for 1908, was one of many alumni returning to campus for Alumni Day. Mr. Carter lives in Waban.

NEWSMAKERS

MIT Commencement and Alumni Day put many MIT graduates, faculty, staff and alumni into the news. At Commencement, Walter Godchaux III, of New Orleans, La., received the Goodwin Medal for "conspicuously effective teaching." A candidate for the Ph.D. degree in biology, the department in which he teaches, Godchaux was nominated by his students for the award. Also noted in the news were the graduating sons of three MIT professors.

At the Alumni Day luncheon, several news stories emerged. One was Dean Thomas P. Pitre's retirement. Dean Pitre, who has served as Director of Student Aid for 33 years and "given" more than $17,000,000 to 21,000 students, will join the Alumni Association as Director of Clubs. Awarded honorary membership in the Alumni Association were Norbert Wiener, Professor Emeritus and father of cybernetics, and Mrs. Eleanor Jack, who was honored for her friendships with students and their wives. Mrs. Jack is the widow of the late Professor J.R. Jack, former head of the Dept. of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering.

Prof. Lan J. Chu and son Yuan Hou Chu (S.B. in physics).

Prof. Charles S. Draper and son James S. Draper (S.B. in aeronautical engineering).

Prof. Bertram E. Warren and son Bruce A. Warren (Ph.D. in physical oceanography).

JUNE RETIREMENTS

Friday, June 28, eighteen employees from the Cambridge campus and eight from Lincoln Laboratory will retire after contributing nearly 370 years of service to MIT.

Two retirees, Ruby Alden and Salvatore (Billy) Castellano have been working at MIT for a total 68 years. Ruby Alden, a nurse in the Medical Dept., started work at MIT in August, 1930, and Billy leaves after 35 years as an electrician in Physical Plant.

Other Cambridge retirees and dates they started include: Pawel Belij, Walker dining staff, September, 1953; William Burke, DSR Guard, January, 1951; Martin Coffey, Instrumentation

Lab carpenter, October, 1944; Martin A. James, Electrical Engineering project machinist, November, 1942; Mabel Morrow, senior clerk in the Payroll Office, July, 1954; John Rice, IL janitor, July, 1957; Sherry Lawrence, shop helper at IL, September, 1954; Leslie E. Tyler, Mechanical Engineering machinist, September, 1946; and Carl Peinert, Nuclear Science design draftsman, July, 1947.

Physical Plant retirees include: electrician Norman G. Potter, who started at the Institute in September, 1943; janitors Anthony Drago, who started July, 1943, and Peter P. Roche, who joined MIT September, 1955; night cleaner Nora McNeil, who began work May, 1952; and Joseph F. Madonna, watchman, who started February, 1946.

Included in the group from Lincoln Lab are: Louis M.E. Brooks, heat and vent mechanic, who started work, November, 1954; Francis Sherlock, head janitor at Lincoln, who started January, 1952; and Robert G. Johnston, janitor, who started October, 1953. Guards at Lincoln who will retire and the dates they began work are: Augustus S. Cidado, June, 1950; Fenwick Gilroy, December, 1952; Francis P. Johnson, June, 1948; Lewis C. Theriault, August, 1954; and Joseph I. Weinewuth, July, 1951.

Two other MIT employes have already retired. Alice Ragan, telephone operator for 18 years, retired in February, and John J. Reilly, a night cleaner for Physical Plant, who joined MIT in March, 1955, retired last month.

SUMMER SYMPHONY

John Corley, MIT's assistant director of music, will begin his sixth season with the MIT Summer Symphony tonight. Tryouts for the Summer Symphony will take place tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Kresge Auditorium.

The orchestra is open to all competent orchestral musicians from the MIT community and the Boston area. Past groups have included high school students, regular members of MIT music groups who are in Cambridge for the summer months, summer students from other colleges and other interested individuals, some of whom have come from as far away as Providence and Cape Cod for the Tuesday evening rehearsals.

Rehearsals will be devoted to reading both classical and contemporary music, with the possibility of a performance later this summer.

Also for your interest, Wednesday (June 26), Klaus Liepmann, MIT's director of music, will conduct the Cambridge Festival Orchestra in Hayden's "Le Midi," Bloch's Concerto Grosso, and Stravinsky's Dumbarton Oaks Concerto. Maria Clodes, pianist, will be soloist in the Piano Concerto in A Major (K. 488) by Mozart.

The Concert, sponsored by the 1963 MIT Summer Session, will be in Kresge Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $1 and will be on sale before the performance. (The concert is free to MIT Summer Session faculty, students and wives.)

DAMES JOB SERVICE

One of the best pools for translators, typists, babysitters, etc., is the newly organized MIT Dames' job service.

MIT Dames, wives, sisters and mothers of MIT students, began the service last winter, catering to at-home jobs and part time work for members. For instance, one member is available to translate scientific Russian material. The program was so successful this spring that the Dames are interested in expanding job listings before the influx of new students (and wives) this fall.

If you know of any work available (The Dames are also interested in full time jobs.) please call the chairman of the job service, Carol Todreas, at 734-6283.

These views from married students housing, which will be ready for occupancy this fall, were taken by Al Paone of Photo Service. The five buildings including one high rise and four low rise buildings are nearly completed. It is expected that by August, the low rise buildings, which include the two bedroom apartments, will be ready for initial occupancy. Nearly 85% of the apartments have been leased so far, and the Housing Office reports that those still available are efficiencies on the top floors in the 16-floor high rise.

WORDS OF WARNING

If you are planning a trip to Maine to view the forthcoming solar eclipse Saturday, July 20, be sure your eyes will have adequate protection to protect them from the sun's rays. (The eclipse may best be viewed along a 55-mile wide path stretching from Bar Harbor to Jackman, Maine.)

Optical instruments--telescopes, field glasses, sun glasses, goggles, or even little opera glasses--should not be used. Your eyes should be protected not only from intense visible radiation but also from ultraviolet and infrared radiation, which can cause damage to the eye without any physical discomfort.

The safest material suggested by industry so far is a double thickness of over-exposed and fully-developed silver density photographic film. This provides a filter that absorbs the ultraviolet, visible and infrared energy of the sun equally and sufficiently. It should be placed in front of your eyes before you face the sun.

All people planning on going should be sure to check further bulletins in newspapers, pamphlets, etc., regarding the safety measures of viewing an eclipse.

For photographers who desire further information on exposure times, members of the staff at the Hayden Planetarium, Science Park, suggest that you write for the free Kodak pamphlet (No. M-10) entitled "Solar Eclipse Photography for the Amateur." The address is Sales Service Division, Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.
