"In the bleak midwinter

Frosty wind made moan,

Earth stood hard as iron,

Water like a stone..."

--Christina Rossetti

Among many whose Christmas week activities were focused on Apollo were (L to R): James Nevins, Dr. Richard Batten, David Hoag, IL Apollo Director, Albert Hopkins and Al Harano.

Among monitors of the flight at IL 7 were (L to R): Norman Sears, Peter Philliou, Albert Engel, Margaret Hamilton and Phyllis Rye.

The tension breaks in the monitoring room at IL 7 as Dave Hoag (center) waves his hand to signal confirmation of Apollo 8's Pacific splashdown.

At IL's Houston Field Office were (L to R): Phillip Fellemann, Bruce McCoy, Russell Larson, George Reasor, Mrs. Mary Bittenbender, and Tom Lawton.

With Pad 39 as a backdrop, the MIT Cape Kennedy crew included (L to R): George Silver, George Cox of Cambridge, Rom Gilbert, Bob O'Donnell, Dick Sheridan and June Hubbard.

UNIVERSAL THEATRE

When the Greeks wrote plays, they intended them to last. Many have, and the Community Players have chosen one, Jean Anouilh's adaptation of "Antigone," for their winter production which opens tomorrow evening in the Little Theatre.

"Antigone" has particular relevance right now because its central theme is the struggle between youth and the establishment. The imaginative approach to the staging of the play enhances its impact on modern times. In ancient Greek tradition, the play will have a chorus, but members will be costumed in police uniforms as a reflection on confrontations which took place last summer and fall on the Boston Common.

The play is being directed by Jim Cooke of the Joint Center for Urban Studies. Among cast members playing major roles are Marie Phillips of Lincoln's Photo Lab and Erik Goldner, '69. The production crew includes Peggy Kapisofsky of the Microreproduction Lab, Judy Milliken and Mimi Bain of the President's Office, Jane Howard of the National Magnet Laboratory and Herb Meily of Lincoln.

In addition to the opening tomorrow night, performances are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday (January 11 and 12) and Thursday through Saturday (January 16-18). Curtain time is 8:30 except for the Sunday performance which begins at 7:30. Tickets are $2 for Friday and Saturday evenings, and $1.50 for other performances, and may be reserved at the Kresge Box Office, Ext. 4720.

NORTHERN RETREAT

Nestled in the rolling hills of Vermont is MIT's newest "residence," Talbot House. Given to the Institute a year ago by Laurance Rockefeller, Talbot House is a pleasant retreat from Cambridge hustle and bustle, intended primarily as a place where faculty and students can get to know each other in an informal atmosphere. But a request to use the renovated farm house by any organized Institute group, an office, for instance, would be considered, though student use takes precedence.

Talbot House is located just three miles from Woodstock, Vermont, which has been called one of the five most beautiful villages in the country. Chief attractions of the area include historical points of interest, several well-known working farms, riding trails, an 18-hole golf course and, of course, several favorite ski slopes such as Suicide Six and Killington. One special event visitors look forward to is sugaring-off parties at nearby farms which can be arranged when the sap begins to run as a prelude to spring.

A resident cook prepares meals at Talbot House, but guests are expected to set and clear the tables and help with the dishes. Fees for the use of the house are modest, based on a minimum group of ten. Meals, both number and variety, can be arranged to suit the tastes of the guests at the time reservations are made, and linens are provided. The house can accommodate as many as 22 in bunk-style dormitories. Scheduling for Talbot House--which is booked solid for the next three months--is handled by Dean Jay C. Hammerness at Ext. 3913.

To speed up your mail delivery, be sure to inform your correspondents of your Institute room number. Using your Zip Code number helps a lot, too.
