Virgin Teaching the Christ Child, in the lower part, with rather elaborate background and border. One other small child in composition. Virgin and Christ Child have halos; Christ child elaborate cruciform one, but the other child has no halo.

The wooden frames seem to be in good condition. The center member of side chancel window and all have windows are side hinged.

We like the idea of representing the mature Christ as the central motif, especially as the Christ Child is already represented in two of the windows in the Church.

See directions for reaching church in folder.

However, we feel sure that the medallion arrangement is much the best for this position, and Mr. Connick completed a design, which we are sending you herewith. We are convinced that it composes very successfully and can be beautifully developed in actual color and light.

You will see that the central motif is the Christ of the Beatitudes. The eight-pointed star on His breast is the traditional symbol of the Beatitudes. This interpretation of the figure beautifully unites the theme with the text: "Blessed are the Pure in Heart for they shall see God". Emanating rays of light suggest the all powerful influence of Our Lord's most significant Sermon on the Mount.

Attendant angelic figures bear the trumpet and censer, symbols of Prate and Prayer, with a caroling angel above.

The lily motif of the border completes the design as a symbol of Purity.

This sketch is, of course, only a rough suggestion of the general treatment in color and light. The actual detail will be developed in the full size drawings and in the glass, as you have seen in the botographs of Mr. Connick's windows.
