General Information See photograph of 23rd Psalm window in place.

The plan for the series is the Old and New Testament theme in each pair.

To be devoted to Hosea and The Prodigal Son. (This window goes opposite the 23rd Psalm window in place.)
4 Evangelists.

Hosea's Promise of reconciliation in his second chapter, and the Prodigal Son.

Hosea and the Prodigal Son

Another design is for the window on the south side opposite the one now in place and is devoted to Hosea and the parable of the Prodigal Son.

The first panel symbolizes Hosea's message of Promise, - " I will give her .. a door of hope".(Hosea 2:15). Above is the Anchor Cross of Hope, and in the medallion below, the broken sword of Forgiveness.

The second panel represents the return of the repentant son. The father stands at the door in welcome, - "My son was lost and is found." Below is the flaming Rose of Divine Love and Charity.
